HOW TO REACH NAGOYA

General Information

Central Japan International Airport (Centrair) is connected to major cities around the world by direct flights, and Nagoya Station is the nucleus of a railway network comprising JR, private railway, and subway lines. Tokyo is around 1 hour and 40 minutes and Osaka, Kyoto are within 1 hour by Shinkansen Nozomi.

Chubu Centrair International Airport (Chubu Kokusai Kuko), Japan's third major international gateway, is located on an artificial island 30 minutes south from the center of town. Facilities include two hotels, restaurants, a shopping concourse, and an onsen spa with views of the runways.

The best way of connecting between Centrair Airport and central Nagoya is the Meitetsu Airport Line. The fastest myu-sky express trains take 28 minutes cost 850JPY plus a mandatory 350JPY myu-ticket seat reservation in a First Class. Slower trains are the same price, but do not require a reservation.

Furthermore Tokyo-Narita, Tokyo-Haneda and Osaka-Kansai airports are alternative airport to access to Nagoya.
