

Your Session Proposal Has Been Approved

Session ID#:

Title of Proposed Session:

Dear:

Thank you for submitting your session proposal for IAIA19, "Evolution or Revolution: What next for impact assessment?" to be held 26 April – 2 May in Brisbane, Australia. You are receiving this message as the lead organizer of a proposed session. If you have co-chairs, please share this message with them.

We have reviewed your proposal and found that it meets preliminary acceptance requirements.

Congratulations - you may begin making your conference plans!

What's Next? Preliminary Program Invites Abstract Submissions

Your session will be listed in the online preliminary program, which will be posted in sections as conference information is developed, and will be complete in mid-October. Authors/delegates will be encouraged to submit abstracts for the listed sessions.

All participants in your session are required to submit an abstract, whether they are presenting an oral summary of a paper in a regular paper session, or they are an invited speaker, a debater, panelist, roundtable participant, etc. Preparation of an actual paper is optional, but an abstract is required so that IAIA has complete and correct information in order to provide the participants with important conference information and to prepare the final program.

Only abstracts submitted online, by the submission deadline, will be accepted.

You may submit abstract one abstract for your own session, if you are not already involved with two sessions. Your own presentation would need to be presented last in the session.

Then You Will Review the Abstract Submissions and Plan Your Session

With this accepted session proposal, you have taken on the responsibility to do some preparatory work reviewing abstracts that have been submitted to your session, as well as to chair this session on-site.

During the abstract review phase (see timeline below) we will work with you regarding how to do reviews and select the presentations you want for your session, how to prepare your session plan, what to do if too many or no papers have been submitted for your session, how to modify your session if needed based on the papers received, what to expect on-site, what we would like to see in terms of outcomes from the sessions, and so forth.

Prior to the review period, you may see what papers are being submitted to your session via the public page (www.iaia.org > IAIA19 > Submissions ).

Getting Your Session into the Final Program

Confirmation of your session on the final schedule will be contingent upon the number of papers received for it, final approval by the Program Committee, and IAIA Headquarters (HQ) receiving your registration and full payment of fees by 25 January 2019. We reserve the right to withdraw your session or assign a different program chair if you are not registered with fees paid by 25 January. You are responsible for arranging your own funding; IAIA does not have funds available to pay registration or travel expenses.

You are encouraged to begin planning for funding and visa arrangements now, as the processes can sometimes take several months.

Note: All presenters in your session, even if they are invited or are panelists or speakers other than typical paper presenters, will also be required to submit an abstract, register, and pay the published fees, by the noted deadlines. The primary reason for this is twofold: 1) because IAIA conferences are highly participatory, and our philosophy is that everyone attending, including those special speakers who are not “regular” IAIA members, can take something away from the conference as well as contribute to it; and 2) financially, we cannot do otherwise. IAIA is a non-profit organization, and we exist as an organization only by assuring that our meeting expenses are covered. Since the majority of the participants at the annual meetings are also speakers or presenters, we simply cannot waive or reduce any registration fees.

Session scheduling: If you are planning to chair a session, please plan to be available for the duration of the conference. Due to the very large number of sessions and the number of variables that must be taken into account when planning the program, it is not possible to accommodate specific requests for session time slots, (e.g., to work around your travel schedule or to avoid scheduling against another session).

About Deadlines and Timelines

Please respect deadlines, as they are firm. NO exceptions will be made.

Why so strict? For your reference and for the authors you will be working with later, the reasons are many: Extending deadlines or allowing exceptions is fundamentally unfair to those who abide by them. As our conferences grow larger, it is becoming more difficult for our volunteer committees and small staff to manage the sheer numbers of submissions and logistics. Allowing exceptions creates a domino effect whereby all other deadlines must be extended, which then shortens the significant amount of time needed for reviews, revisions, program preparation, the paper review process, communications, etc. Individually addressing “late” problems and queries is not an effective use of limited Program Committee and staff time. Poor time management reflects badly on the professionalism and credibility of the organization as a whole. These are only some of the reasons it is important to plan and execute the planning schedule carefully.

We also advise all conference participants not to wait until the last minute to make registration arrangements, apply for travel documentation, or handle other time-sensitive tasks.
